STEP I:

CHOOSE YOUR TEAM

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has."

Margaret Mead

STEP I: CHOOSE YOUR TEAM

Select a County Coordinator

County Coordinators are chosen through local governments, volunteer centers, nonprofit organizations, and businesses*. They serve as the sparkplug for recognition of volunteers in their community. This dedicated individual acts as the liaison between county representatives and Volunteer Tennessee. County Coordinators will also be invited to attend the Governor's Volunteer Stars Awards each spring along with the county's honorees.

The County Coordinator's responsibilities include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Organizing the volunteer recognition team
- Recruiting local sites, including volunteer centers to distribute nomination forms
- Promoting local and statewide volunteer recognition to the local media
- Organizing the judges panel or selection process
- Speaking to the community
- Developing community partnerships
- Adhering to the timeline as outlined in the County Resource Guide
- Ensuring the names of the official award winners are sent to Volunteer Tennessee by November 26, 2019.

Although the County Coordinator manages the above tasks, supporting team members will provide much of the assistance needed to accomplish each goal.

vol•un•teer

a : one who enters into military service voluntarily b : one who renders a service or takes part in a transaction while having no legal concern or interest

*While, ideally, County Coordinators are to be appointed before selecting Recognition team members, some circumstances may require counties to select their coordinators after forming teams. An informal vote after teams are formed to select the Coordinator may be more feasible in such a situation.

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

Develop a reliable team

Organizing a dedicated team is critical to the success of your volunteer recognition program. Remember that each team should be representative of your county, incorporating all types of diversity. Counties are encouraged to include at least one youth member to provide an appropriate focus for reaching potential youth volunteer award winners.

It is also important to consider others' capabilities when forming a team. Ideally, teams would include members with the following skills/knowledge:

- Communication/writing/creative ability
- Public speaking ability
- Knowledge of the non-profit community
- Access to potential partners/sponsors
- Logistical/organizational skills
- Media/business connections

County Coordinator/Team Member Selection:

You know the great leaders in your community, but this list may prove helpful as you start brainstorming team members:

- United Way members/volunteers
- Volunteer Centers
- Chamber of Commerce members
- Business executives who promote employee volunteerism
- Places of worship and faith-based organization leaders
- Civic clubs
- County Extension Agent
- AmeriCorps, Senior Corps
- School board officials/administrative staff
- College faculty/staff/students
- Local foundation leaders
- Community center leaders
- Public officials
- Health/medical facility leaders (hospitals, mental health, etc.)
- Senior centers
- Habitat for Humanity
- Garden Clubs
- Governor's Books from Birth program
- Emergency/Disaster response leaders

- Youth Groups

 - Boy/Girl Scouts
 - Faith-based youth groups
 - High school clubs
 - Big Brothers/Big Sisters
 - Afterschool service-learning
 - School-based service-learning
- Other civic minded citizens

Inviting your team members:

After devising your list of possible team members, choose to invite them by e-mail, letter, or phone. Utilize the general letter in Appendix D as your starting point, along with fact sheets provided in Appendix A. Then make it personal, including personal volunteerism goals for the county in which you live.

Choose your organizational plan

Before developing your volunteer recognition program or selecting team members to assist in the efforts, it is important to consider the scope and process by which you will host your program.

Consider the overall makeup of your community and plan for organization in one of the following ways:

Existing volunteer recognition program:

Some Tennessee counties already have existing volunteer recognition programs/awards within their communities. To avoid duplicating others' efforts, conduct research to determine whether such a county-wide program already exists within your county. If so, please see: Working with existing volunteer recognition programs (p. 10).

Large volunteer recognition campaign:

Your county's volunteer recognition program has the potential to impact many lives through the promotion of volunteerism. A campaign on a larger scale will require more team members, more partners, and more contacts, but will have a greater influence on your community. You may consider hosting various volunteer opportunities and recognizing organizations and individuals over the course of a predetermined week. The week could conclude with a final awards ceremony to recognize your local Stars. This will require involving the entire community, including local businesses and organizations as planners and sponsors. As you consider your team's organizational structure for a large program/event, think about selecting members with a variety of experience and contacts within your area.

Small volunteer recognition campaign:

Some counties may choose to commemorate volunteer recognition on a smaller scale. Once again, a county's resources, population, and overall makeup must be considered before starting to plan a program. Such an event may include hosting a luncheon or reception at a local restaurant within the community. Awards can be presented to the volunteers recognized by the county. In organizing for this type of event, quality is key. Select team members who know how volunteers serve in your community.

Media only campaign:

While the primary goal of any local recognition program is to heavily promote volunteerism within local Tennessee communities, this does not have to be accomplished by hosting an event. Some County Coordinators may choose to develop a team to help distribute nomination forms, obtain media attention, and judge nomination applications. Other Coordinators may choose not to develop a team, but to conduct the program individually using the media tools in Appendix E.

Working with existing volunteer recognition programs:

Many communities in Tennessee have already developed local volunteer recognition programs to honor the efforts of those who give back. If you or any of your team members are aware of a local ceremony that you may partner with, you're encouraged to use that avenue. There's definitely no need to reinvent the wheel, and joining the efforts of others will prove just as successful rather than attempting to host two similar events. An existing volunteer recognition program can submit that county's youth and adult volunteer of the year to the Governor's Volunteer Stars Awards.

Examples of local volunteer recognition programs include the Mary Catherine Strobel Volunteer Awards, hosted in Nashville, the Greeneville/Greene County Volunteer Spirit Awards, Volunteer Memphis Awards, and the East Tennessee Volunteer Recognition Awards.

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

Equip your team

After selecting your team, it is important to schedule a meeting soon after to introduce program goals and concepts. Remember, the goals of your local volunteer recognition program are as follows:

- To display the ways volunteers help strengthen communities
- To increase the rate of volunteerism to meet compelling needs
- To promote the message that volunteering is rewarding and part of what it means to be a Tennessean

Provide team members with much of the same information included within the County Resource Guide, including fact sheets in Appendix A. Then establish the goals your team wants to achieve within your local community. Does your county need more volunteers for mobile meals? Youth mentors? Park clean-ups? Early childhood education volunteers? How can your recognition program help you achieve your goals?

In the first meeting, it is important to gain an idea of the areas that will be covered by team members. Depending on the size of your team, it may even be necessary to establish subcommittees to accomplish each goal. Consider the following areas to be covered:

- Selection of volunteer honorees
- Public Relations and Publicity
- Event Planning
- Funding/Partners

Finally, work with your team to develop a schedule for the rest of your meetings. While it may not be necessary to determine exactly what kind of volunteer recognition you will host at the beginning of your planning, develop a general idea so you may plan accordingly. For a larger recognition event, meetings may need to be held more frequently. For a less time-consuming program, schedule fewer meetings.

Remember, plan early. This will assure that you meet all of your goals.

STEP II:

DECIDE WHAT TO

CELEBRATE

"We are prone to judge success by the index of our salaries or the size of our automobiles, rather than by the quality of our service relationship to humanity."

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

STEP II: DECIDE WHAT TO CELEBRATE

Confirm your criteria

What makes an outstanding volunteer? Listed below are the four Governor's award criteria to be used for judging volunteer award nominees.

- Need: Service addresses a specific, compelling need in the community.
- Action: The nominee was actively involved and took initiative.
- Innovation: The nominee used creative methods to solve community problems.
- Impact: The activity or service produced positive changes and provided an example to others.

A sample nomination form is provided in Appendix D and online at www.volunteertennessee.net. Each county can make adaptations based on its own goals, but please include the above criteria at a minimum.

Decide how you will celebrate

Celebrating your volunteers is a great way to promote volunteerism within your community. One of your biggest tasks will be determining how to achieve this. Most of the work your team performs will lead up to this event/effort. See also Choose Your Organizational Plan (p.9).

The goal is to celebrate in a way that works for your county. If your county is famous for something, consider incorporating it into your recognition program. Counties are strongly encouraged to schedule their local recognition events to take place no later than January.

Volunteer Recognition Event Ideas:

- Host a Volunteer Recognition banquet at a local restaurant/ballroom.
- Plan a themed party/luncheon/reception.
- Plan a community-wide volunteer activity.
- Collaborate with an existing community event host to recognize volunteers.
- Organize a parade of volunteers. Invite local nonprofits and community volunteers to march.
- Designate "Volunteer Day" at a local sporting event.
- Create a Volunteer Recognition park or exhibit at a park/zoo. Plant trees annually for each Volunteer Recognition award recipient.
- Establish a "Volunteer Wall of Fame" in the local library, Chamber of Commerce, or courthouse. Invite local media, nonprofits and volunteer award nominees.
- Host a concert featuring local artists (bluegrass band, rock band, local choir, et

STEP III: CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

"I don't know what your destiny will be, but one thing I know: the only ones among you who will be really happy are those who have sought and found how to serve."

Albert Schweitzer

STEP III: CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

Craft your call

A model volunteer recognition nomination form is provided in Appendix D as a reference tool. To make any modifications, access the form at www.volunteertennessee.net.

Another option is to use create an online nomination form and receive submissions digitally. There are many options such as Google Forms or Jotform, so you can decide which works best for you and use the nomination form from Appendix D as a sample for what to include.

Some counties may choose not to supply an actual nomination form, but may develop a call for nominations instead. This may include award information, eligibility requirements, deadlines, and information regarding the particular form of celebration your county will host.

*Make sure to include the criteria on the form. It is important to make is clear you are seeking details on why that volunteer stands out and how they have made an impact in the county.

Distribute your form

Distributing your form to various locations is the first step to ensure you will receive many nominations. The following list provides ideas of some key places to distribute nomination forms within your county. Don't forget to post on websites!

- Volunteer Centers
- Local United Way
- Schools/institutions of higher education
- Local businesses
- Community centers
- Chamber of Commerce
- Educational foundations
- Advocacy organizations
- Faith-based organizations/groups
- Libraries
- Community bulletin boards
- Local non-profit organizations
- National service organizations (AmeriCorps, Senior Corps)

TIP: Two weeks or so before your deadline to receive nominations, it pays to check to make sure people remember to submit on time!

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

Develop Media relationships

Developing strong media relationships within your community is a prime way to ensure that the goals of your volunteer recognition program are met. Partnering with media groups will not only guarantee that your program or event will receive appropriate publicity, but it also has the potential to cut down on much of the advertising expense.

Although approaching the media may seem to be a daunting task, use the following methods to ensure you develop positive media relationships:

- Know your campaign: When you are more familiar with your program/event, you will appear more confident and knowledgeable. This will make people more likely to cover your story.
- Manage your time wisely: Usually those in the media are pressed for time. When presenting your idea/story, try to provide succinct information.
- Come prepared: The media is the best outlet to present your message to a mass audience; therefore, it is important to have access to all documents and information when speaking with them.
- Don't give up: Persistence is necessary when disseminating information through the media. Make phone calls, then send follow-up letters or emails, and make actual visits to media offices. Utilize every possible vehicle to present your message.
- Use a media kit: The purpose of a media kit is to provide appropriate background and contact information to those covering an event/story (generally reporters). It is extremely important to have these on hand for press conferences and media interviews. Usually placed in a folder, your media kit should include the following documents:
 - General news release
 - Ad slicks (final, camera-ready advertisement)
 - Facts sheets/statistics on volunteering

*Samples of each of the documents listed are provided in Appendix E and can be accessed on www.volunteertennessee.net to make appropriate adaptations.

Other important documents:

Other items that may not be used in your media kit, but are extremely important to have on-hand when working with the press:

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

- Media list—includes a list of current local media, such as newspaper feature editors, local section editors, community affairs departments of radio and TV stations, talk show producers, and magazine editors (in urban areas). Call and ask who at the media outlet covers volunteer activities, general human-interest stories, or community service issues.
- Pitch letter—sent out in advance to those on the media list. Letter should ask for an appointment with the editorial board and subsequent coverage throughout the campaign to include proclamations, features on local volunteers, volunteer organizations and businesses that promote volunteering. Be sure to follow up with phone calls asking to be placed on the editorial board calendar.
- Photos—Photos can often make the difference between getting media coverage or not. Contact photo departments of television stations and newspapers prior to your event to invite coverage.

*Samples of each of the documents listed are provided in Appendix E or can be accessed on www.volunteertennessee.net to make appropriate adaptations.

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

STEP IV: SELECT YOUR HONOREES

"Somewhere on this planet, someone has a solution to each of the world's problems. It might be one of us. With your help, we can build a more hopeful world."

Marianne Larned

STEP IV: SELECT YOUR HONOREES

Pick your judges

It is extremely important to choose a diverse team of judges to select your volunteer award recipients. Determine the appropriate number of judges based on your community's size and the number of award applications you have received. When selecting judges, consider the list of suggestions provided for selecting your county resource team (p.8). In fact, some counties may choose to request that some or all of your county resource team members serve as judges.

Each county is also encouraged to choose at least one youth judge, as this will provide insight and perspective in choosing the youth award recipient.

Choose your review method

After selecting judges, teams must determine how they will review award applications. Consider your judges' schedules and other suggestions they provide.

Commonly used review methods include:

- Consensus review: Judges read each application and come to a general agreement (but not necessarily unanimity) on award recipients. The review may also include a time to resolve any objections, considering all comments fairly.
- Panel review: Judges score each nomination based on the established criteria (see Appendix D for score sheet). The adult and youth volunteer with the highest combined scores receive the award.
- Peer review: Two sets of judging panels are formed, one comprised of adults and one comprised of youth. Allow each panel to use score sheets or consensus review to determine award winners within the corresponding categories.

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

Review the Nomination Applications

When reviewing nomination applications, there are a few things that each reviewer should keep in mind:

- The youth category encompasses youth and young adults up to age 25.
- Don't measure impact solely on time spent volunteering. A retiree's schedule may allow him/her to commit more time to volunteering than a high school student or single mom.
- Practice integrity. Remain completely unbiased and base every decision solely on the volunteer's service.
- Remember the four Governor's award criteria to be used for judging volunteer award nominees: Need, Action, Innovation, and Impact.
- The honoree should be selected for their outstanding volunteer service during the last year. (Example: the 2019 GVSA will take place in 2020, but the honorees will be recognized for their volunteer service during 2019)

Inform the winners

After selecting your volunteer recognition award recipients, your team may choose to inform them before hosting your event to ensure their presence. Other counties may choose to invite all nominees to the recognition event and wait to announce award recipients at that time. Either method is appropriate.

Your budget size and the type of event you're hosting should determine how you invite your guests/awardees. A formal invitation may be appropriate for a banquet or formal event, while a phone call may be acceptable for less formal recognition events. Release invitations, whether in print or by phone, at least two weeks before the actual event. To prepare more efficiently, it may be necessary to require RSVPs as well.

STEP V: HOST YOUR LOCAL RECOGNITION

"In every community there is work to be done. In every nation there are wounds to heal. In every heart there is the power to do it."

Marianne Williamson

STEP V: HOST YOUR LOCAL RECOGNITION

Decide on your awards

The awards that you choose for your volunteer honorees can be as traditional or unique as you choose. Keep in mind that this will serve as the memento that will forever remind your award recipients of their local “Star” status.

Although memorable, your awards need not be expensive. The following list provides cost-effective methods for selecting the type of award that you will give:

- Certificate
- Object designed by a local artist
- Pin
- Key to the city
- Plaque
- Key rings
- T-shirts
- Mugs
- Volunteer “Hall of Fame” in a public building
- “Floating” trophies/awards to be passed on each year to award recipients
- Engraved frame to place volunteers’ pictures from either the local/statewide event
- Framed “thank you” kids’ drawings from a local school
- Local volunteer yearbook to be displayed in a library, courthouse, or other public office
- Gift cards
- Scholarships
- Travel costs for the Governor’s Volunteer Stars Awards in Nashville
- Cash donations from sponsors to the agency or cause of the winning volunteers

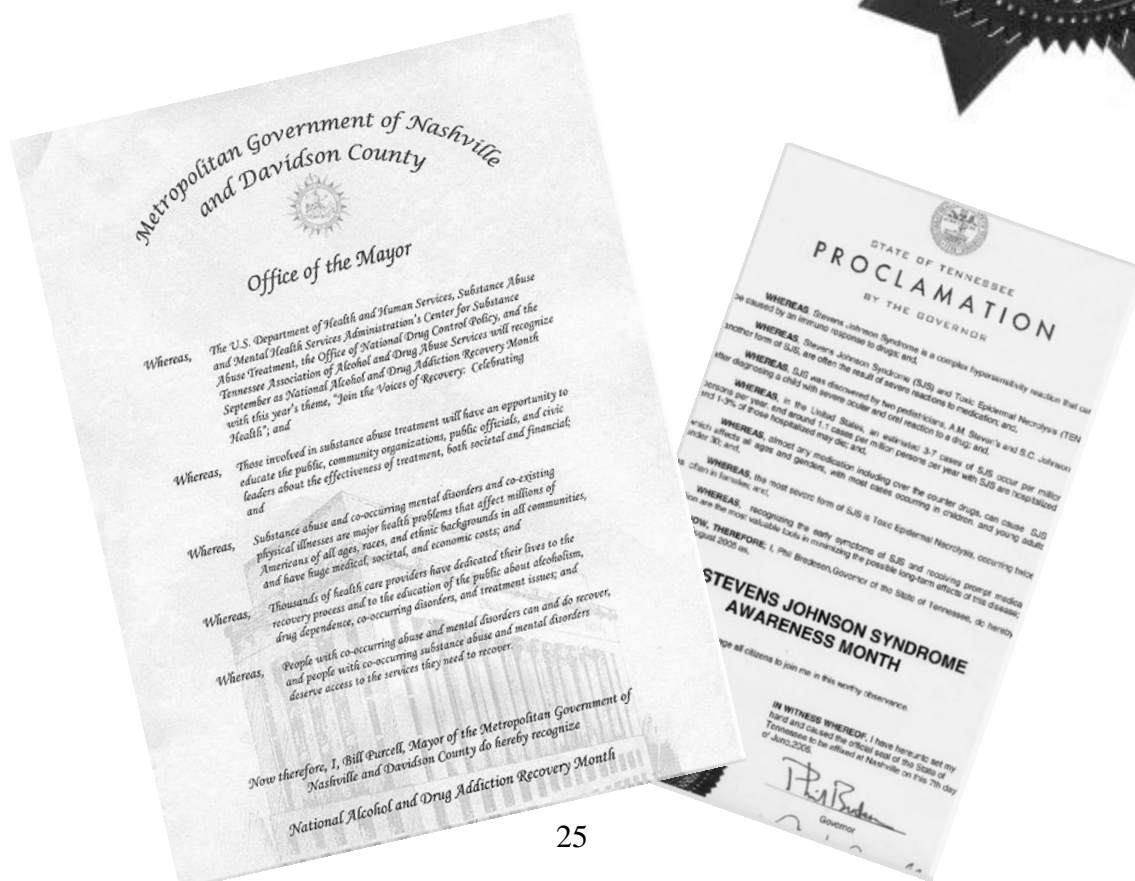

Meet with the Mayor to Prepare a Proclamation

County Coordinators should connect with your County Mayor to notify them about the county's selected volunteer honorees. It is also recommended you contact them about preparing a proclamation.

Proclamations issued by a local public official generally provide an opportunity for the official to recognize exceptional events and people, often when they cannot acknowledge them in person. The goal of a proclamation is to recognize and celebrate the extraordinary achievements of the community's citizens and non-profit organizations, honor occasions of importance and significance to Tennesseans, and increase public awareness of issues to improve the well-being of the people of the city. Your volunteer recognition is the ideal time to request that the public official designate the day of your event as official "Volunteer Day" in your county.

Designate a team member to contact your local public official to request the proclamation. Send a proclamation request letter and a sample proclamation, and follow up with a phone call. Make sure all team members are present when he or she adopts the proclamation. Immediately following, send a thank-you letter and display the proclamation in a highly visible place (i.e. the local courthouse). A sample proclamation request letter and proclamation are provided in Appendix D.

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

Develop community partnerships

Developing community partnerships is a prime way to ensure that your recognition event is appropriately publicized and cost-efficient. Depending on the size of your community, area businesses have the potential to provide everything you need to host your event. Team members should identify the businesses that may serve as partners and how they may help, then reach out to them. (See “Tips for Approaching Potential Partners” on p. 27).

Ask local businesses to help in the following ways:

- Provide monetary support
- In-kind donations* for the program/event:
 - Food and beverages
 - Decorations/flower arrangements
 - Awards/Gift Certificates
 - Printing services
 - Audio/visual equipment
 - Seating (tables and chairs)
 - Space to host event
 - Office supplies for media distribution/nomination forms
 - Equipment delivery
 - Advertising space
 - Postage
- Sponsor a volunteer scholarship
- Place nomination forms or posters within their business/office space

Meeting with people face-to-face is the most effective method for gaining community partners. Consider hand-delivering fact sheets and nomination forms to potential partners so that employees can easily put a face with your volunteer recognition event.

After businesses ensure their support, remember to communicate any event changes that come up during the planning stages that may affect them. These may include an increase or decrease in attendance and/or addition of other partners. Also remember to acknowledge them at the event, on signage, and in advertisements and newspaper articles.

Following the event, send your partners a thank you card. Schedule a time to discuss the event with them in order to receive feedback. As soon as possible, lock them in for the event again next year.

*Remind potential donors that in-kind donations are tax-deductible (if your local recognition event is coordinated through a non-profit or local government agency).

Tips for approaching potential partners:

- Make a case that investing in your event will bring the sponsor a return - through new business or publicity.
- Prepare an information packet, which might contain the following information: fact sheet with statistics about volunteerism, description of your mission, who your supporters are; event description that tells who the target audience is, how many people will participate, etc.
- Sponsorship levels - Set dollar levels to pay for specific items (food and beverage, t-shirts, etc.). For each level, provide specific benefits that the sponsor will receive (recognition in all advertisements, recognition on the day of the event, tickets to your event, etc.). Structure the benefits in such a way that the higher the sponsorship dollar amount, the greater the sponsor recognition.
- State your needs clearly (i.e., lunch for 200 including drinks and dessert @ $10/person = $2,000). Remember that sponsorship may be "in-kind" (i.e. goods or services) or cash.
- Explore a co-sponsorship arrangement if a potential sponsor can only provide partial sponsorship. Pair them with a non-competing company.
- Let potential sponsors know of any confirmed sponsors. Often there is a bandwagon effect.
- When you get to "closing the deal," be specific as to payment details or provision of in-kind goods and services. How will the sponsorship be completed? The sponsor may provide you with a check prior to the event, provide in-kind goods or services at the event, or pay a third-party vendor directly for goods or services provided (which may need to be the case if your organization is a government entity).

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

Alert the media

As mentioned, the media are some of your biggest allies, and it is important to keep them apprised of details regarding your county's recognition event. After choosing your award recipients, use your media list to inform them about the event through media alerts, fact sheets, press releases, pitch letters, etc. Samples of each are provided in Appendix E.

Leading up to the event, it is also beneficial to keep your volunteer recognition at the forefront of people's minds. This will serve as an excellent method to promote volunteerism as a whole. Some counties may choose to submit award nominee profiles to the media as potential feature stories. Another option includes submitting letters to the editor to reveal personal opinions about the importance of the event. Don't forget to send a notice about your event to community calendar editors at your local newspaper. Also, consider submitting editorials about volunteerism, localizing the importance of giving back to the community.

Here are 10 Tips for Approaching the Media*:

1. Know the difference between a news story, a column and an ad.
2. Don't call reporters on their deadlines. After 3 p.m. is the worst time for most reporters who work on morning papers or for evening news broadcasts.
3. Start with a reporter and work your way up, unless you already have a good relationship with an editor.
4. Speak in sound bites, not speeches.
5. Use email and voicemail - don't insist on personal interactions at first.
6. Humor is your friend.
7. Be prepared to follow up conversations with more information: fact sheets, names and phone numbers, web sites and faxes.
8. If you are rejected because your pitch is not in the reporter's beat, ask if there is someone else at the media establishment who may be interested.
9. Make as many calls as you can yourself. PR professionals rarely have the same depth of knowledge or interest in the topic as an advocate.
10. Be upbeat and enthusiastic. If you're not interested, why should anyone else be interested?

*Tips provided by Desirée Cooper, columnist, Detroit Free Press

Host your recognition event(s)

Although the overall goal of the Governor's Volunteer Stars Awards is to increase the rate of volunteerism in Tennessee, much of your success will be measured by the results of your local recognition event. Here are a few tips that should ensure that your event will run smoothly:

- Prepare the location beforehand.
 - Arrange seating, equipment, and other logistics early.
- Contact all partners and vendors the day before the event to remind them of arrival times.
- Contact special guests the day before to make sure they are clear on arrival/departure times.
- Ensure team members will be present to meet special guests (the Mayor, presenters, partners, etc.).
- Have a contingency plan. Anticipate any potential problems and come up with a plan B for each.
- Keep a To-Do list, delegate tasks, and designate a key person to update the master copy of the list.
- Enjoy your event!

As you celebrate...

While hosting your celebration, always keep your purpose in mind. It's easy to get caught up in the hustle-and-bustle of the event, but remember that you're honoring volunteers. Exemplary volunteers generally don't receive accolades for what they do. This is your day to say "Thanks" in every way possible. Make this day special for your volunteer honorees. Ensure that they leave the recognition event with an understanding of how truly special they are to your community.

STEP VI:

PARTICIPATE IN THE

GOVERNOR'S

VOLUNTEER STARS

AWARDS

"The best way to predict the future is to invent it."
Immanuel Kant

STEP VI: PARTICIPATE IN THE GOVERNOR'S VOLUNTEER STARS AWARDS

Send in the names of your volunteer award winners

Following your local recognition event, or after selecting your Governor's Volunteer Stars Award recipients, submit award recipient forms to Volunteer Tennessee for both the youth and adult who will receive a statewide Governor's award.

The Award Recipient form is now an online form. Complete and submit to Volunteer Tennessee using the following links:

Submit Adult Honorees:

www.surveymonkey.com/r/GVSAsubmission_Adult

Submit Youth Honorees:

www.surveymonkey.com/r/GVSAsubmission_Youth

The name and address of each nominee should be submitted on a separate form. Bios and photos can be uploaded directly onto the form.

Submissions should be for individuals only. Due to the growing number of counties and individuals being recognized at the GVSA, Volunteer Tennessee cannot accept submissions for more than one adult and one youth per county.

It is imperative that names are submitted in a timely manner so that appropriate decisions and accommodations can be made to prepare for the recognition event.

In addition to submitting the form, provide any press releases, newspaper articles, or other printed information distributed locally that may be beneficial for the statewide event to volunteer.tennessee@tn.gov.

The DEADLINE to submit honorees is November 26, 2019.

Volunteer Tennessee Submission Requests and Tips:

- Photos: Digital photos of honorees are to be included with submissions. Please include a clear, quality headshot for the event booklet. If possible, include a "service in action" photo of them volunteering.

COUNTY RESOURCE GUIDE

- Recipient Volunteer Biography- This will be edited and used in the event award booklet and by the event emcee when recognizing the honorees. This narrative should be more than a list of the organizations they volunteer with, and should highlight what makes them a volunteer star. Please submit narratives that are no more than 500 words.
- Honoree contact info- Invitation letters will be emailed to recipients. If no email address is available an invitation will be sent via mail. It is important to make sure Volunteer Tennessee receives the correct contact info so the honorees receive the invitation and materials that are mailed after the event. Additionally, Volunteer Tennessee will notify State General Assembly Members, and Members of Congress of their district honorees and invite them to the event.
- Notifying Honorees and County Mayors-While every effort is made by Volunteer Tennessee to contact honorees and County Mayors, we urge County Coordinators to contact them as well to confirm that they have received the event information.

Once you've submitted your volunteer stars, please plan to participate in the statewide volunteer recognition event on February 9, 2020, in Franklin, TN.

Developing and carrying out your county's local volunteer recognition is a challenging task, and you deserve some form of appreciation. Each county coordinator is invited to accompany their Governor's Volunteer Stars Awards honorees to the statewide volunteer recognition event. Scheduled for February 9, 2020, this event will recognize each local volunteer at the state level. A reception will precede the event. You will receive an official invitation letter with more event information closer to the event date.

STEP VII:

STRENGTHEN

VOLUNTEERISM IN

YOUR COMMUNITY

"In American society today, we need to have volunteerism.
I truly believe that it is the glue that will hold us together and it will be the energy that will take us into the 21st century."

U.S. Senator Barbara Mikulski

VII. STRENGTHEN VOLUNTEERISM IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Provide Feedback about the Volunteer Recognition Program

Because a major focus of the Governor's Volunteer Stars Awards is to strengthen volunteerism throughout the state of Tennessee, it is important that the program improve each year at both the state and local levels. An online survey will be distributed to each County Coordinator following the statewide recognition event. If a subject is not included on the feedback form that you would like to address, feel free to add additional comments.

Raise your voice within your community

Your role as county coordinator should not stop after your recognition event is over.

Now that you have become well-acquainted with volunteerism within your community, you may assist in this effort. Encourage others to join you as you volunteer throughout your county. Seize every opportunity to speak locally about the issue, and remember to keep your fact sheets and talking points handy.

Prepare for next year's event

It's never too early to begin preparing for the following year's volunteer recognition program/event. Consider what went well the previous year and what may need to be improved. Initially, try preparing in the following ways:

- Develop community partnerships
- Choose a reliable team
- Decide how you will celebrate
- Develop media relationships
- Design media material
- Reserve space for your event
- Request feedback from others

LETTER TO POTENTIAL VOLUNTEER RECOGNITION TEAM MEMBERS

City/State/Zip

Dear [Name],

Volunteers play a critical role in the success of Tennessee communities across the state. Through nonprofit organizations, national service programs, faith-based organizations, and neighbor-helping-neighbor, outstanding volunteer service is part of our state heritage. In fact, the annual value of Tennessee volunteers is $3.3 billion.

Within [your county] we witness the positive results of volunteerism daily. [Describe some changes made within your community, i.e. economic development, church assistance, poverty addressed. Use city/statewide statistics if you don't have countywide examples].

As the Volunteer State, we must continue to foster this sense of service and civic responsibility. In an effort to encourage more [county name] citizens to help improve our community through volunteerism, Volunteer Tennessee has instituted a statewide volunteer recognition program, the Governor's Volunteer Stars Awards. This initiative will honor one adult and one youth (up to age 25) in each county for his or her exemplary volunteer service.

While each award recipient will be recognized at the state level in [event month], it is also important to honor these outstanding volunteers within our local county communities. We need your help to develop a successful volunteer recognition program right here within [county name]. Your knowledge and expertise in [name of field/area, i.e. volunteer recruitment, education] will add tremendously to our local recognition team. Please join me on [date & time here] to further discuss how we will approach this initiative within [county name]. If you have any questions, please call XXX-XXXX. I look forward to working alongside you as we honor those who make a difference in our community and inspire others to get involved.

On [DATE] we will celebrate our local Volunteer Stars by hosting a local volunteer recognition ceremony at _____. As we approach that date, we ask you to join us in supporting and encouraging the people you represent to commit to volunteer service.

Our goal in hosting this event is not only to recognize exceptional citizens, but it is also to illustrate the importance of civic participation and service to improve our communities. I hope you proclaim [DATE] to be Volunteer Day in [your county].

Dear [Name]:

[SAMPLE TEXT: To many, Susie Taylor's daily routine may not seem very unique. After a quick breakfast, she spends her day with her elderly neighbor, running errands, helping her write out bills, and ensuring that she has three healthy meals. But Susie Taylor is 77, and she exudes the spirit of volunteerism.

A member of Senior Corps' Senior Companion Program (SCP), a program sponsored by the Corporation for National and Community Service, Taylor reaches out to adults who need extra assistance to live independently in their own homes or communities. "I am so grateful for the opportunity, especially at my age, to feel like I can still help somebody else," says Taylor. "There's nothing quite like feeling as though you've made a difference."

On [DATE], [your county] will honor [adult honoree name] and [youth honoree name], volunteers who provide exemplary volunteer service within the [your county] community. This celebration will illustrate the importance of civic participation and service to improve overall community norms. Both the adult and youth volunteer recognized at the celebration will also be honored as Governor's Volunteer Stars in February.

We have a great event to talk about and would welcome the opportunity to share the details of this volunteer recognition event with your viewers [or readers or listeners, in the case of publication and radio]. Area corporations, not-for-profit organizations, civic organizations, and the volunteer recognition team have been working diligently to make sure Tennessee continues its legacy as the Volunteer State.

We hope you'll participate in our celebration and share the information with your viewers [or readers or listeners, in the case of publication and radio]. Our desire is for people to see this event and be motivated to volunteer in their communities, whether through faith-based organizations, national service programs, schools, or simply as neighbors-helping-neighbors.

In the next few days, we will call you to determine your interest in covering this event or speaking with volunteer recognition honorees.

Thank you for taking the time to review the enclosed materials. If you have questions or need additional information, please call me at [county coordinator phone number].

Sincerely,
